INHA International Medical Center

Who We Are & What We Do

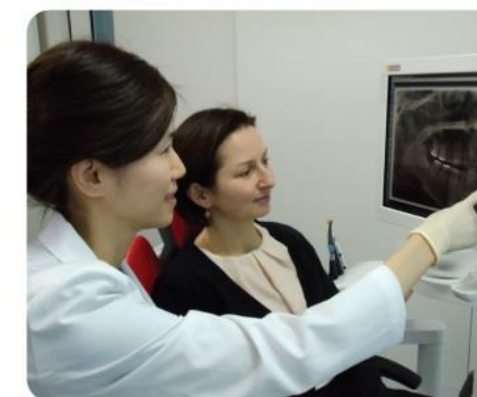

A medical center of premium quality for international customers

High Quality Medical Service

Located 5 minutes from the Incheon International Airport, the central hub of the East Asia, the Inha International Medical Center is a premium international medical center founded in 2012 with the aim of providing international customers from around the world with the best medical services of international standard with state-of-the-art medical equipment and superior medical staff.

All employees at the Inha International Medical Center are like your family members. They are dedicated to early detection of undiscovered diseases and slowing down aging so you can enjoy a more beautiful and healthy life for a long time.

Efficient collaboration system with the JCI-certified Inha University Hospital

Co-operative Medical Service with Inha

The Inha International Medical Center is medically supported by the Inha University Hospital, the first domestic general hospital accredited with JCI (Joint Commission International) in the entire specialty areas, and can therefore conveniently provide total medical services through the collaborative system with the Inha University Hospital in the event that the customer chooses to receive treatment and surgery for specific health problems discovered during their check-up.
